Praying for peace with Psalm 67

Sometimes I want to see more results from my praying. But you say,

“Let the peoples praise you, O God, let all the peoples praise you.”

O God, give peace among the Jewish settlers and the Palestinians seeking justice in their own land;

O God, help the two peoples in Sri Lanka to live together, now that the fighting has ceased.

O God, strengthen the churches and pastors and those seeking peace in Colombia.

“Guide the nations upon earth.”

O God, be with the Christian Peacemaker Team workers and the Kurdish refugees they're seeking to help in northern Iraq.

O God, be with the Christian peace-seekers in India who are working for understanding between Christians who have been persecuted and their radical Hindu persecutors.

O God, strengthen the struggling government in Zimbabwe, and the churches in a disastrous economy.

“Let all the peoples praise you...let all the ends of the earth revere you.”

O God, we pray for President Obama, that he would continue to search for ways to talk and dialogue with “enemies.”

O God, may our nation limit and reduce its military spending, including its military support to Colombia and Israel, and to the fighting in Iraq, Afghanistan and Pakistan, so that we may have resources to work toward peace and healthcare for all.
