Youth Peace Recognition Nomination Form

"A Different Drummer"

Presented by the Peace and Justice Support Network, Pittsburgh 2011

Background: Mennonite Church USA calls the Peace and Justice Support Network (PJSN) to strengthen the church's commitment to peace and justice by equipping persons across the church called to this ministry, and by encouraging the church to embody and communicate Christ's reconciling way. Since the 1997 national assemblies, PJSN has been recognizing individuals who have been devoted to peace and justice over the course of a lifetime, with the Peace Pitcher.

PJSN is now encouraging young people to begin the work of a lifelong commitment to peace. We want to recognize and affirm youth who "march to the beat of a different drummer," and "move to the rhythms of peace" in their lives, congregations, communities and world. "A Different Drummer" drum will be awarded at the convention in Pittsburgh in recognition of a youth with these values and practices. PJSN plans to present "A Different Drummer" recognition at each national convention.

Past recipient: 2009—Laura Bowman
